- Saves energy with intelligent analysis (AI Energy Mode) Energy saving is made easy with SmartThings. By turning on AI Energy Mode, your TV auto-detects surrounding light levels and analyzes usage behaviors to adjust the brightness, which helps in reducing overall energy consumption. It also analyzes TV content scene-by-scene to subtly adjust brightness where possible, to cut down on energy consumption.

Energy saving rate may vary by regions, models, sizes, viewing conditions or types of content. Products shipped in Eco Mode have some AI Energy Mode functions enabled by default, so energy saving levels by turning on AI Energy Mode may appear lower compared to Standard Mode. AI Energy Mode does not work with Game Mode. Energy savings based on internal test results and may vary depending on content being displayed and surrounding brightness levels.

- A remote control made with recycled materials and charged by sunlight and indoor lighting (SolarCell Remote) With a solar panel on its back that you can use for charging, you no longer need to use disposable batteries for SolarCell Remote, as they are not the best for the environment.

To charge the remote with solar energy, set the TV remote down with the solar panel facing up. Place it in your living room while your lights are turned on, or you can place it near a window where it will soak in natural sunlight. In case the remote's battery is depleted, you can charge it using a USB-C cable. To check the remaining battery level of the remote control, refer to the TV Menu. The design and button layout of the SolarCell remote may vary depending on the region. SolarCell Remote in 2024 TV models contains a minimum of 24% recycled plastic.

Reviews

1. A massive 75-inch display that looks jaw-dropping in the living room. The AirSlim design is crazy thin for a TV this large, fitting tight against the wall. The Quantum Processor 4K handles AI upscaling perfectly; even regular cable channels look crisp, and the EyeComfort Mode makes late-night viewing much easier on the eyes. (5 stars, posted 3 weeks ago)
2. Absolute beast of a TV for console gaming! Finding a massive screen that supports native 4K at 120Hz across all four HDMI ports is amazing. With Motion Xcelerator 120Hz and FreeSync Premium enabled, my games feel incredibly fluid with zero screen tearing or input lag. The in-game Game Bar overlay is super handy too. (5 stars, posted 1 month ago)

3. The color and contrast are phenomenal thanks to the Dual LED backlighting, making movie nights feel truly cinematic. The Active Voice Amplifier Pro is another fantastic feature—it bumps up clear dialogue instantly whenever someone starts talking or vacuuming in the next room. Highly recommend!
